Guest Speakers

Rev. Dr. Deborah Krause, Ph.D.
President and Professor of New Testament
Eden Theological Seminary
Baccalaureate Speaker

Rev. Dr. Deborah Krause is President and Professor of New Testament at Eden Theological Seminary. Her teaching and scholarship focus on methods of biblical interpretation and their roots in critical theory, theology, and politics. She teaches courses in the gospels, early Jewish exegesis, the Deutero-Pauline and pastoral epistles, and feminist-womanist, post-colonial, and postmodern biblical interpretation.

Rev. Dr. Krause served as Academic Dean from 2005–2018 and began as Eden Theological Seminary’s president in July 2020.

An ordained minister of the Presbyterian Church (USA), Rev. Dr. Krause serves the church through social justice advocacy work, teaching, preaching, and scholarship.

Leon Garoufalis, M.B.A.
President and Chief Executive Officer
Composites One LLC
Commencement Speaker

Leon Garoufalis, who graduated from Heidelberg in 1981 with a bachelor’s degree in economics, also has an MBA from Loyola University. He currently serves as the president and CEO of Composites One, an industry leader that provides the widest range of reinforcements, resins, gelcoats, catalysts, core materials, shop supplies, and process equipment. Headquartered in Illinois, Composites One has 40 distribution centers nationwide and serves 9,000 customers in a variety of markets, including aerospace, automotive, marine, and wind energy.

Mr. Garoufalis joined GLS Composites Distribution Corp, which would later become Composites One, in 1988 as a Resin Products Manager. Over the past 37 years, he has held a variety of sales, marketing, and operations positions after starting his career in sales with a specialty chemical manufacturer and then a thermostat resin producer.

At Composites One, Mr. Garoufalis was named Chief Operating Officer in 1999, promoted to President in 2002, and finally, appointed CEO in 2022. His excellent leadership has been recognized by the composites industry. In 2012, he received the Chairman’s Award from the Composites Manufacturers Association. He also has served the association in several capacities since 2006, including membership on the Board of Directors, the Executive Committee, and as Secretary and Vice President.

Mr. Garoufalis joined Heidelberg’s Board of Trustees in February 2024. As a student at Heidelberg, he was a member of the Excelsior Men’s Society, the wrestling team, and the College Council.

Academic Regalia

The pageantry of academic regalia is a tradition that has gradually evolved from Medieval times. The cloak with its attached hood was worn over a long, flowing robe for protection from the weather. Now, the array of color that creates our academic processions not only gives splendor to the graduation occasion, but also is a reminder of the historical foundations of education and a symbol of specific academic achievement.

In the Heidelberg academic procession, the graduate degree candidates wear the master’s degree gowns and hoods of the appropriate designation: Master of Arts in Counseling–light blue; Master of Athletic Training–sage green; and Master of Business Administration–drab.

Each undergraduate degree candidate wears a robe with hood displaying the University colors of red, orange, and black. The colored velvet border of the hood signifies the academic field in which each student is to receive a degree: Bachelor of Arts–white; Bachelor of Music–pink; Bachelor of Science–gold; and Bachelor of Science in Nursing–apricot. They may also wear colorful silk cords or stoles representing University honors, cultures or activities in which they have participated while at Heidelberg.

Next in the procession are the members of the faculty who, at Heidelberg, enter the graduation hall or stadium according to rank: instructors, assistant professors, associate professors and professors. Each faculty member wears the robe appropriate to his or her highest degree. The bachelor’s degree gown has pointed sleeves and is worn closed. The master’s degree gown has oblong–cut sleeves slit at the wrist and is worn open or closed. The doctorate gown, which also is worn open or closed, has bell–shaped sleeves, usually crossed with bands of velvet. The length of the hood also identifies the degree: 36 inches for those with a bachelor’s degree, 42 inches for those with a master’s degree, and 48 inches for those with a doctorate. The colored lining of the hood reflects the institution from which an individual has received her or his highest degree.

Finally in the procession come members of the platform party which includes the Board of Trustees, the speakers, the Provost, and the President.

Mace

The mace is a ceremonial staff borne and displayed as the symbol of authority of a legislative body. The mace is carried in the academic procession by the Chairperson of the General Faculty. It was made and donated by James A. Gatchell, Class of 1957, and George Oklok from Harpster, Ohio. It was decorated by the late James Hagemeyer, Heidelberg associate professor of art. This mace is made of walnut with crystal discs bearing the Heidelberg seal and the Heidelberg “H”; brass plaques with the mission statement are attached to the sides under the glass. The past is represented by the carved walnut created by an alumnus. The Heidelberg mission statement engraved in brass represents the present. And the future is represented in the bright and shining glass medallions on top.

Class Banners

Class banners are made by the graduating class to solidify their place in the institution’s history. Over the years, the banners have varied in size, shape, color, and motto, making each banner as unique as the class that created it. Every five years, classes return to campus to celebrate their class reunion. Hanging today are banners of this year’s reunion classes—class years ending in five and zero—forever linking the Class of 2025 with their reunion classes.

Displayed on the stage are banners from the Class of 2025 and the Class of 1938. The oldest living alumnus of Heidelberg is a member of the class of 1938. Together, these banners represent the living history of Heidelberg from its oldest to its newest alumni.

Latin Honors

Latin honors are Latin phrases used to indicate the level of distinction with which an academic degree has been earned. Three distinctions of honors are conferred at graduation: highest honors, summa cum laude, to those who have attained a grade point average of at least 3.900; high honors, magna cum laude, to those who have attained a grade point average of at least 3.700; and honors, cum laude, to those who have attained a grade point average of at least 3.500.

Latin honors are based only upon credit earned in courses taken at Heidelberg University. Students may receive these honors provided they have spent the last two years and completed 60 hours of coursework at Heidelberg University.

The Heidelberg University Honor Society

The Honor Society is the only all-University scholastic honor society. Each spring, faculty and staff members of the Society elect new members who are seniors and candidates for a bachelor’s degree. New members must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.5, rank in the top 15 percent of the graduating class and be projected to complete at least 60 hours of Heidelberg courses by the end of the semester. Candidates must also have completed a specific distribution of coursework. Acceptable distributions include the general education requirements for the Bachelor of Arts, the Bachelor of Music, the Bachelor of Science, and the Bachelor of Science in Nursing degrees as well as the distribution requirement of the Honors Program. Transfer students who fulfill these requirements also are eligible for The Honor Society.

“Life of the Mind” Honors Program

Heidelberg is committed to affirming values that produce creative, responsible individuals, and challenging all students to reach their full potential as whole persons. The Faculty of the University established an Honors Program — titled “The Life of the Mind” — to support and challenge the University’s highest academic achievers in the development of intellect and character. This comprehensive program, which integrates learning and life experiences, stems from the mission of the University and features contact with the fundamental values that underpin self-worth and traditions, as well as a lifelong habit of commitment to the community and concern for social responsibility. To achieve these goals, the program engages students in four areas of intellectual inquiry: the Scholar, the Scientist, the Artist, and the Citizen. In this way, the program empowers students to explore their abilities within a supportive community of scholars and learners.

Special Music

“Softest Rains”

Rob Dietz

*Slowly goes the heart that knows
The roaring depths of riverbeds
Guided by the feathered ways
Of those who came before
Who forged the strange-eyed streams*

*I dream of storms that fray and flood
The graying banks and amber tides
I long to be a thunder drum
Unto a world anew*

*But in defense of what remains
Beautiful*

*Let me be the joy in softest rains
That I may embrace the places where
The flowers grow
And hide
A spring from which the light may flow
When harder winds preside
To carve a secret winding path
Into the tired stars
For when the constellations fall-
A harbor in my arms
And in our softest rains
So amidst the foaming gloam
Their glowing voices will remain*

*Until one day,
A hurricane*

The Alma Mater

“Sweet Alma Home”

F. A. Power/Harry Robert Wilson

*Sweet Alma Home! Where'er we be,
Where'er we roam, On land or sea,
Our swift winged memory in yearnings,
Yearnings backward flies to thee.*

*Sing Alma Mater Heidelberg!
Sing till the vaulted heavens ring!
Sing till the gales on swiftest wing
Bear the song away!*

*Sing till returning echoes bring
Back again the lay!
Sing till the echoes bring back the lay!
Sing Heidelberg!*
