

THE JOHN QUINN LECTURE SERIES

T.S. ELIOT AND THE WASTE LAND

Wednesday, June 23

6:30 p.m. Eastern Time (US and Canada)
via Zoom

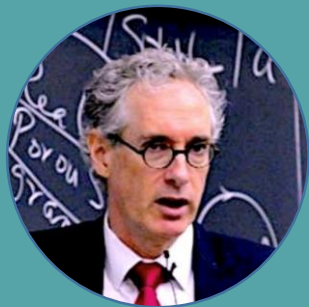

Please join us for our summer lecture in which we will explore John Quinn's pivotal role in the publication of T. S. Eliot's poetic masterpiece, The Waste Land. Please read this beautiful and challenging poem and come prepared to ask questions of our special guest, Dr. Garry Leonard.

Copies of The Waste Land are available for checkout at the Library. The ebook and audiobook can be found on the Ohio Digital Library and hoopla.

This event will be recorded. Recordings of past events in this series can be found online here: t.ly/yDSu

John Quinn was born in Tiffin, Ohio, in 1870. He grew to international fame as a collector of modern art and was a lawyer for many famous authors including James Joyce, T. S. Eliot, and William Butler Yeats.

Guest Speaker: Garry Leonard is a Professor of Literature and Film at the University of Toronto. He is the author of two books on James Joyce -- Reading Dubliners Again: A Lacanian Perspective, and Advertising and Commodity Culture in Joyce. More recently, Film International published his essay "What Grows in This Stony Rubble?: Melodrama in It's a Wonderful Life and The Waste Land."

Hosted by Heidelberg University's Dr. Barry Devine. Dr. Devine is a specialist in the works of James Joyce and Irish modernism and is a contributor to the forthcoming The Cambridge Centenary Ulysses.
